

Architecture - Week 1

The use cases that we defined this week (Alice & Bob, see status.md) leads us to this first architecture approach.

We defined three components classes that we will need later : one subsystem for the road composition, one for the management of users account and the last for the points management. Each one of this systems will interact with the others and with a database. Below you can see, a diagram of a first approach to our architecture:

